

I fail to understand how you would even consider restricting competition by preventing satellite radio services from offering "local content." Satelliet radio service is not free. If consumers are willing to pay for a superior product instead of listening to free radio how would an action supporting the NAB help consumers?
Stop this right now.

Regards,

Raymond Cunningham